Registered Charity No: 0148911

Each winter we present a series of concerts in Little Chalfont featuring internationally known musicians and some exciting new ones. The music they play is wide-ranging, informative and entertaining introductions by the musicians are an enjoyable part of the concerts. The atmosphere is friendly and welcoming and we are always delighted to see children and young people at our concerts (admission free). We also run coach trips to operas and symphony concerts. Tickets for individual concerts are available but our season ticket (5 concerts for £48) is great value!

Great Missenden Choral Society

Great Missenden Choral Society is a friendly, welcoming and sociable group. It maintains high standards of performance and aims to provide enjoyable and challenging programmes for choral members and audience alike. We sing good contemporary pieces and earlier neglected works, as well as established masterpieces.

GMCS rehearses at the Oldham Hall, Great Missenden. Normally two concerts are performed each year, one before Christmas and one around Easter, but not necessarily having a religious theme. Rehearsals start respectively in September and January, on Mondays from 7.45 p.m. to 10.00 p.m. We are always looking for new members (particularly sopranos, tenors and basses) and if you are interested in joining please contact the Secretary, Tony Overton on 01494 863581 or E-mail tonykirsten@talktalk.net. The programme for the Society's 63rd season is listed below. We take a break from solid religious works to sing "Cool Yule", a selection of up-beat close harmony pieces, spirituals and Gospel Christmas music, accompanied by famous pianist Laurie Holloway and his trio and with a fine mezzo soloist Sarah-Jane Lewis. In the Spring of 2012 we sing "Music from The Countryside", four choral works by English composers plus Vaughan Williams' "The Lark Ascending". Our Music Director John Cotterill will conduct both concerts.
